Said a railroad engineer to an Irishman whose cow had been killed: "But she didn't get out of the way when I rang the bell." "Faith, thin," said Pat, "ye didn't stop when she rang her bell, nayther."

"I say, when does this train leave?" "What are you asking me for? Go to the conductor; I'm the engineer."

"I know you are the engineer; but you might give a civil answer." "Ye, but I'm not a civil engineer!"

A well known member of the Governor's council, at a late public dinner, overheard one of the colored attendants ask another: "Whose dat gemmen, Sam?" And Sam responded: "Dat Purfessor F." Then the other queried: "How did ye know he was a purfessor?" To which Sam replied, with dignity: "Oh, all dese yere purfessors is polished off on top."

We see Albert Kingsbury often mentioned in the papers of late. We knew Albert 10 years ago. He went by the nickname of Dr. Kilpouse and was the coolest man, when facing a bulldog, we ever saw. But we never expected him to become famous, yet to-day his name is heralded throughout the country as that of a man cured by a certain patent medicine.

An Illinois woman recently discovered that her husband proposed to elope with the housemaid. Did she weep and shed tears and kick up a fuss? Not a bit of it. She just wrote a letter purporting to arrange for her elopement with a neighbor and let it fall into her hands. And it about drove him wild. He fired the servant girl out of the house, and sat up all night with a shot-gun to shoot the villain who was after his wife, and has been since then the most devoted husband in Illinois.

SUPPLY OF MEAT IN THE FUTURE.

The price of fresh and salted meats is now very high in nearly all civilized countries, and fears are entertained by many that the price of fresh meats will advance to such a point that it can no longer be generally used by the poor. A somewhat sensational report was published a few weeks ago in one of the New York papers to the effect that the maximum production of meat had been reached in several countries in Europe, and that the limit of meat production had almost been reached in this country. The author affirmed that several of the States did not now produce meat enough to supply their own people, and that soon other States would be compelled to obtain meat from a distance. It was represented that farmers generally throughout the country kept all the meat-producing animals their lands could carry and that the great plains of the west and south were becoming covered with flocks and herds. In the opinion of the writer the population of the country would soon be doubled, while the number of cattle, sheep and pigs would not be largely increased. The prediction was made that we should soon be obliged to stop the exportation of meat, and that we should find it extremely difficult to produce enough for the supply of our own people. In other words, a meat famine was predicted for the country that had always had meat in abundance. The famine predicted is of a remarkable kind. It is to be the result of a failure of forage and grain crops or of sickness among flocks and herds. It is to take place in consequence of the inability to produce meat enough to supply a fast increasing population even under favorable circumstances of seasons and health. It is to endure not for a limited period, but for all time.

It is evident that the author of the article referred to has not considered the subject as carefully as he should, and has not obtained all the information he might have procured. It is not true that all the meat producing animals are now kept on farms in the States longest settled that might be supported. Up to the present time animals in this country have been kept almost entirely on grass and corn. It requires a large amount of land to raise enough of these to support a given number of animals. In the near future more attention will be given to the production of root crops, of which a larger amount of food can be produced from the same amount of land. Neither is it true that the great plains are now covered with flocks and herds. It is likely that the number of cattle and sheep on them will increase four-fold within a short time. They will receive much better care and attention than they now do, and will have in addition some shelter from the storms and some harvested food. The animals will not be scrubs or "natives." They will be full-bloods or at least high grades. They will eat no more food than inferior animals, but will be of better quality. Much is being done to hasten the maturity of all classes of meat-producing animals. Three-year-old heaves weigh as much as 5-year-old heaves did a few years ago. They consume but about half as much food and produce a better quality of meat. Improvements in live stock are now going on more rapidly than ever. A more judicious system of feeding is also being practiced.

Dr. Bliss made haste to draw the $6,500 appropriated in lieu of the $30,000 that he demanded. The Eastern press says that when he drew the money his pulsation was 340; his respiration heavy; his pus cavity greatly distended, and that he showed alarming symptoms of an approaching rigor. Happily, he did not prescribe for himself, and recovered.

The Denver and Rio Grande will be opened from Denver to Salt Lake by the 1st of March, when there will be a through railroad connection by the central route independent of the Union Pacific Railroad.

THE STATE PRISON.

We are in receipt of Warden Garrard's letter to the Legislature, giving a brief summary of his stewardship, but not his tabulated statements of the several accounts with the different departments of the prison. Therefore it is difficult to compare the cost of running that institution under his administration with that of the late General Batterman.

The last Legislature appropriated $100,000 for the expenses of the prison for the two years. The Warden says the expenses in 1881 were $53,366 44, while those of 1882 were $45,169 29, making a total for the two years of $98,535 73, exclusive of the boot and shoe factory.

Warden Garrard has had an average of a fraction less than 128 convicts to care for during his term. Batterman's appropriation—for all purposes—was $175,000. Of this amount $45,721 75 was expended for material used in the boot and shoe factory and salary of the foreman in that department, and $17,744 68 was returned to the Treasury, making the total amount expended by Batterman for all purposes (exclusive of the factory) $111,533 57. Batterman had an average of a fraction over 13 more convicts to provide for than Garrard has had. Besides this, the Board of Prison Commissioners allowed Ormsby county's claim, amounting to $972.04, for prosecuting prisoner Flinn for killing prisoner Bethards; also attorney's fees in the case of Adams vs. Bradley, amounting to $500, and Court fees in the case of the State vs. Hyman, amounting to $43 40, and recording a deed of the State's property in Reno, $5 95, making a total expense of $1,521 59, which was paid from Batterman's appropriation, and was not a proper charge for maintaining the prison. Besides this amount, the Commission and Board of Pardons were each allowed a clerk (under the old law, repealed at the last session) at a salary of $600, making $1,200—an expense which Garrard did not have. From Batterman's appropriation was expended $3,007 72 for the construction of water works, which was a permanent improvement ordered by the Commissioners, and constructed during the last month of his administration, an expense Garrard did not have. Batterman also made other permanent improvements which cost the State $3,052 50, and were ordered by the Commissioners. Batterman received during his last administration 102 prisoners, the transportation of which cost $7,541 25, or about $4,000 more than was taken from Garrard's appropriation for that purpose. This makes a total of nearly $13,000 taken from Batterman's appropriation over that of Garrard's, which brings the net cost of maintaining the prison under Batterman's management as low, if not lower, than that of Garrard's. We shall take occasion to review the report of Major Garrard more fully when it is received.

The shoe shop, according to Major Garrard's letter, shows a profit of $1,995 86 with $600 in bad debts to come off. He shows the outstanding indebtedness to be as follows: Hyman, $7,581 57; Batterman, 19,254 91; Garrard, $6,627 83. Major Garrard has made a most excellent Warden, and his valuable services are worthy of much praise. His management of the shoe factory is worthy of especial mention. The class of work he has manufactured has found a ready sale, at a small advance over the actual cost of the raw material used.

The discipline of the institution has been closely looked after, and the health of the convicts has been exceedingly good.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Carson Tribune entered upon a new volume yesterday. The publisher says: "We are pleased to state that the office has no incumbrances, and although the paper is by no means a Golconda, it is on a reasonable paying basis." The Tribune is a good local paper and welcome exchange. We are glad to read so favorable a report.

The Immigration Society of San Francisco reports that of the 43,000,000 acres of land in California still belonging to the Federal Government 20,000,000 are suitable for general agricultural purposes. The society receives more inquiries from Europe than from the United States in regard to these lands.

Elko county was $2,000 in debt on the first day of January. The county treasury had in it $37,570 50 on that day, but outstanding indebtedness, bonds, etc., is $2,000 in excess of that amount.

TO-DAY'S NEWS.

EASTERN DISPATCHES.

A Millionaire Who Don't Like Excessive Taxation.

New York, Jan. 17.
 Charles Crocker, Vice President of the Central Pacific and President of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, is in this city with his family. Their stay here will be short. In conversation he denied the rumor that he was about to remove to New York, saying the superior climate of California would be enough to decide the question. He continued: "Out in San Francisco they mind other people's business too much. Newspapers must be bothering you all the time. I would have been compelled to leave California two or three years ago if they had collected the taxes they imposed. They assessed me for $15,000,000 and although I paid $50,000 taxes they wanted to collect more than $700,000. I could not have stood it. That was the result of the new constitution that was adopted. Assessors put a high valuation upon the property of myself and my associates to satisfy the sandlot clamor. I am now paying more taxes than I should pay justly. I do not mind that, but when it comes to taxing me $700,000 a year I can't stand it; I had better leave the State. I shall take my family to Washington in a few days for a good time and then we will go to New Orleans."

The Milwaukee Horror—Mysterious Disappearance of the Hotel Register.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 16.
 The fifth day's search through the ruins of the Newhall House resulted in the discovery of fragments of eleven bodies, making a total of 39 since the work began. It the afternoon the safe of the house was got out, rolled upon the sidewalk and opened. It was hoped to find in it the register, showing the names of persons in the hotel at the time of the fire. The contents of the safe were badly tumbled and tossed, but there was not the least trace of any book or paper of the slightest importance in showing who was in the hotel. There were numerous papers, but no register, no transfer book, no memorandum of the guests or employees. The theories advanced as to the cause of the disappearance of all these important volumes are numerous, but none satisfactory. In view of the fact that papers and books of every size and kind were found in every direction only partially consumed, the vanishing of such solid books as the register and its companion is regarded as mysterious and unexplainable. Other books known to have been in the office were found in part, but nothing to show that the two that would now be precious beyond all price are in existence.

Two Men Have a Fatal Duel With Shot-guns.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 17.
 Michael Vandenburg and Mathew Woodcock quarreled near the town of Brooklyn, a short distance from here, to-day, and their friends advised them to settle the dispute with the shot-guns they carried home after a day's hunt. This advice was accepted, the men taking up positions 20 paces apart. Both fired simultaneously. Vandenburg had his eyes put out by shot and was so badly wounded in the head that he will die. Woodcock received the load from Vandenburg's weapon in the breast and neck. A large crowd witnessed the terrible affair and seemed to enjoy it. No less than 24 shot were taken out of Woodcock.

Gone to the Springs—The Secretary of the Albion a Defaulter.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.
 D. B. Chisholm, Secretary of the Albion and a number of other mining companies, has absconded. The Directors to-day received a letter from him stating he was a defaulter to the amount of $7,800, and stating how he had covered his crime. An examination of the books confirmed his statement, false footings of the labor account and cash book having been made. He had been operating in the stock of the company, which dropped and he took money to cover margins. It is supposed he took yesterday's Australian steamer.

Chisholm bore an excellent business and private reputation, had no bad habits and his version of the matter is probably correct. The money seems to have been taken last December. A report got out that an over-issue of stock had been made, but an examination disproved the rumor. At the recent annual meeting of the company a committee was appointed to examine the books as a matter of routine, which probably precipitated Chisholm's action. Previous to his entering the office of the Albion he had been Teller of the Savings Union and Secretary of the California Savings Bank. His wife and daughter were in the office this morning in great trouble, saying they had just heard of his disappearance. Mrs. Chisholm holds in her own name a homestead in Berkeley. The family residence is worth about $10,000, which she announces her readiness to turn over to the company to make good the default.

Mrs. O'Rourke had only been married to him eight months.

Prince Napoleon's Manifesto—"The Empire Alone Can Save France."

PARIS, Jan. 17.
 Plon Plon's house was thronged with visitors up to the time of his arrest. Everyone calling was received. The Prince appeared much excited and eagerly questioned visitors as to the effect caused by his manifesto. Of course they gave him most encouraging accounts of its reception by the public. "Yes," he said "the die is cast. The moment for action has arrived. I hear I am to be arrested and expelled. I await the officers." In reply to the emphatic declarations of his partisans that they counted upon his decision and firmness, he said: "Trust to me. The republic has lived. The people in power have lost all their prestige. The Empire alone has the power to save France and place it again in the first rank of nations." These declarations were frequently repeated and hailed with enthusiasm by the excited Bonapartists, who filled his room during the day up to the hour of his arrest.

PARIS, Jan. 17.
 The appearance of Prince Jerome's manifesto is regarded by some as a march stolen on the Legitimists, for it was known that Count de Chambord, impelled by his supporters, was preparing a manifesto. Eighteen thousand placards had been printed with the greatest secrecy. Baron de Rouet asked to be arrested as accessary to the promulgation of the manifesto, but the magistrate refused to take him into custody. Reports from the provinces state that the news of the arrest of Prince Jerome created no great sensation.

The Funeral of Walter Winn.

The funeral of Walter Winn, says the Enterprise, which took place yesterday afternoon from Masonic Hall, Virginia, was very largely attended. The deceased was buried with Masonic ceremonies, the services being conducted by E. Strother, W. M., of Virginia Lodge, No. 3. There was present a large delegation of Pacific Coast Pioneers; also many Mexican Veterans. Mr. Winn was born in Boston, Mass., in 1813. He served in the Mexican war and was one of the early members of the Pacific Coast Pioneers. Many old Comstock pioneers visited Masonic Hall to take a last look at the face of their old friend.

Will It Breed a Storm?

The high wind last night was a rolling one. It made signs rattle and shook light-framed houses so that the vibrations were quite visible. It may be the forerunner of a snow storm; but predictions are not in order now, every weather prophet in Reno having failed a dozen times this year.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Mills have been retained as Superintendent and Matron of the State Orphans' Home. Miss Preble and Young voted for Mr. and Mrs. Mills and Mr. Tufts for J. Peter Smith. The Board acted wisely in retaining Mr. Mills.

A SINGULAR STORY.

A New York Merchant Disappears and Eleven Years Afterward is Found in Nevada.

A New York correspondent tells this singular story, illustrative of what people will do on the spur of the moment and actuated by a sudden impulse: A merchant sat in his office one day in the year 1868. The weather was very hot, for it was July, and business was dull. Picking up a newspaper the merchant read of a great discovery of silver ore just made by two miners in the Nevada mountains. He put on his hat, opened the safe and took out a few hundred dollars from a private drawer, and walked out. He was never seen again. His business was left uncared for, unfinished, and was finally wound up by his friends. His clerks entered other establishments and the man was apparently forgotten. In 1879 one of the clerks was

TRAVELING THROUGH NEVADA, And being invited to stop over and examine some noted smelting works, was taken through the building. In one corner he saw a pair of mules going round and round in a ring, turning some kind of simple machinery. A little surprised at this crude contrivance in the midst of steam engines and stamp mills, he paused a moment to look at it, and noticed an aged, crippled man engaged in driving the animals. Something familiar about the man caused him to look again, when he found that the mule driver was

HIS OLD EMPLOYER, The missing merchant. When questioned, he stated that the newspaper article about the silver discovery had put it into his head that to find silver was an easier way of getting rich, and he started for the West, intending to write when he had found a silver mine. Up to that time the mine had not been found, and he had become so wretched and despondent that he had gone from bad to worse, until mule driving seemed about all he was fit for. This man has recovered from his insanity, and is to-day in New York with his family, the old clerk having brought him back.

EDUCATED INDIANS.

They Become Just Smart Enough to Keep Drunk.

Some religious journal says that in order to make Indians good they must be educated. This has often been tried and it has invariably proved a failure. Educate an Indian and you make him a thief, a whisky bum and a bad man generally. The "educated" Indian can frequently be seen in California and Nevada. They make a very poor white man. An ordinary Indian will work a little, and if he does not his squaw will; but the educated Indian is too smart. The only way to make a virtuous red man is to kill him and bury him beneath the never blooming sagebrush. There are several intelligent Indians living about Reno, and their intelligence is chiefly directed to obtaining whisky. There is one who can read and write very well, and he is nearly always drunk. When you educate an Indian you merely open his eyes to the fact that it is an easy matter to get whisky.

A Mica Discovery in the Hills Near Reno.

A short time ago the GAZETTE printed an article about mica and its value. It particularly concerned a deposit of that mineral found in Ruby Valley, and recommended that miners pay more attention to it, as it has a good commercial value. A prospector, taking the hint, has since been at work on a vein in the hills about half-way between Reno and Steamboat, and is making a good showing. As the vein is sunk upon, it is more compact and clearer in color, and will perhaps become entirely free of foreign matter. He can now obtain sheets of mica nearly transparent four to eight inches square and sometimes an inch in thickness. He has sent samples to Prof. Henry G. Hanks, State Mineralogist of California, to obtain the opinion of that expert.

Drawing and Painting.

T. F. Laycock's class in drawing and painting will meet hereafter at Mt. St. Mary's Academy at 2 o'clock P. M. on Mondays and Saturdays. Terms—drawing, $3 per month or $8 per quarter; drawing and painting $4 per month or $10 per quarter. Mr. Laycock is a good instructor and is meeting with much encouragement. Parents should embrace this opportunity of giving their children an insight into the fine arts. Read Mr. Laycock's card.

Cold in California.

The valley is covered with frost and the thermometer stood 24 above zero at Sacramento this morning. It makes the air about as uncomfortable as it is in Reno. There are only a couple of feet of snow at the Summit and the wooden along the line are getting out railroad wood, etc. A heavy fog comes in at Suisun and covers the bay with a cold and clammy atmosphere.

Citizens' Meeting To-Night.

Bear in mind that the citizens of Reno will meet in the Baptist church this evening to discuss matters which are of great interest to all. It is to be hoped that every public-spirited man will be there.

APPRECIATED.

Manager Roberts of the Madison Square Company Kindly Remembered by Members of the Profession.

Frohmans brothers of the Madison Square Theater Company have leased the Baldwin Theater, San Francisco, and will open next Monday with "Esmeralda." Other companies will follow. Mr. Roberts, their agent, came out with the "Esmeralda" company as far as Reno, where he left them and went on to San Francisco. Arriving there he had a delightful surprise in the shape of the following letter from the famous company of which he was manager for three years:

"PARK THEATER, BOSTON, Dec. 30, 1882.

"DEAR MR. ROBERTS: The gift which accompanies this letter is but a slight token of your never failing kindness to, and the deep regard of, the undersigned:

"C. W. Coudock, Mrs. E. L. Davison, Perle Dudley, May Roberts, Ada Gilman, Carrie Turner, Chas. B. Wells, Geo. W. Howard, Edwin Miliken, Mark M. Price, W. B. Cahill, S. Y. Coudock, Frank Colfax, W. W. Randall—Hazel Kirke, Company No. 1."

The gift alluded to was a very beautiful brass writing set, calendar and match-box, engraved in the pencil-basin with Mr. Roberts' name and the name of the company. It will be a valuable as well as a beautiful keepsake.

THE ICE HARVEST.

The Best Ice Year Had for a Long Time on the River.

The Summit Company's Prospector Creek ice houses are all full, and they hold 12,000 tons. Boca has 5,000 tons, part of it last year's ice. The Nevada Ice Company at Camp 16 have put up 4,000 tons of fine ice. The People's Ice Company, at Cuba, put up 3,000 tons of new ice and have as much more old ice in the house. The Mountain Ice Company have 2,000 tons, and will put up another crop, making nearly 30,000 tons that Truckee can furnish in 1883. There is a good deal of ice put up at Reno, Washoe, Ophir, Virginia, Sutro and other points in this vicinity, making 5,000 tons more. The ice is all thick and very fine, some of it over 20 inches. It is the best ice year had for a long time.

Somewhat Ambiguous.

The White Pine News says in regard to the death of George P. McConkey: "We have heard nothing new from official sources regarding the Hamilton tragedy since our last, but we are in possession of private advice—which appear plausible—that throw a new light on the sad affair. We think it inopportune to give publicity to the information in our possession at present. But in time the truth must come out, regardless of whom it may criminate. The guilt, whether active or passive, should be traced to its author, and not cloaked up under any pretense of silly sentimentality. Eternal justice and the interests of the public demand that the whole truth be brought to light."

The Squaw Who Was Stabbed by Her Sister.

The squaw who was stabbed in the back yesterday afternoon, mention of which was made in the GAZETTE last evening, was taken to the compound on the other side of the river, suffering great pain. She received two stabs under the left shoulder-blade and one in the small of the back. The cutting was done by her sister in a fit of jealous rage. Officer Nash arrested the Amazon and found a clasp-knife in her pocket with a blade three inches long, having blood upon it. The wounded squaw may have a hard time over her injuries.

Let Him go Barefooted.

When a porter in a Pullman palace car learns that one of the passengers is a "spotter" or detective for the company he marks that spotter by cutting three crosses on the bottom of the heel of one of his boots. The porter who next shines the spotter's boots sees the marks, informs the conductor, and they, too, are honest as the day is long while the detective remains on board. It has been suggested that a spotter be put on each car, but this naturally gives rise to the question: "Who would watch the spotter?"
